

Start here.

Discover more.

See how research using your library's databases just got easier.

Start here ... Discover more.

www.proquest.com/go/yourpath

Start here ... Discover more.

Now there's a better way to search, find, use, and share information.

Your input has paved the way for the all-new ProQuest platform that's built from the ground up—incorporating the best of what you love with additional breakthrough features and functionality.

Search

We've redefined the search and discovery experience, allowing users at all levels to search in more ways, including by subject, product, keyword, and beyond—with one powerful search box.

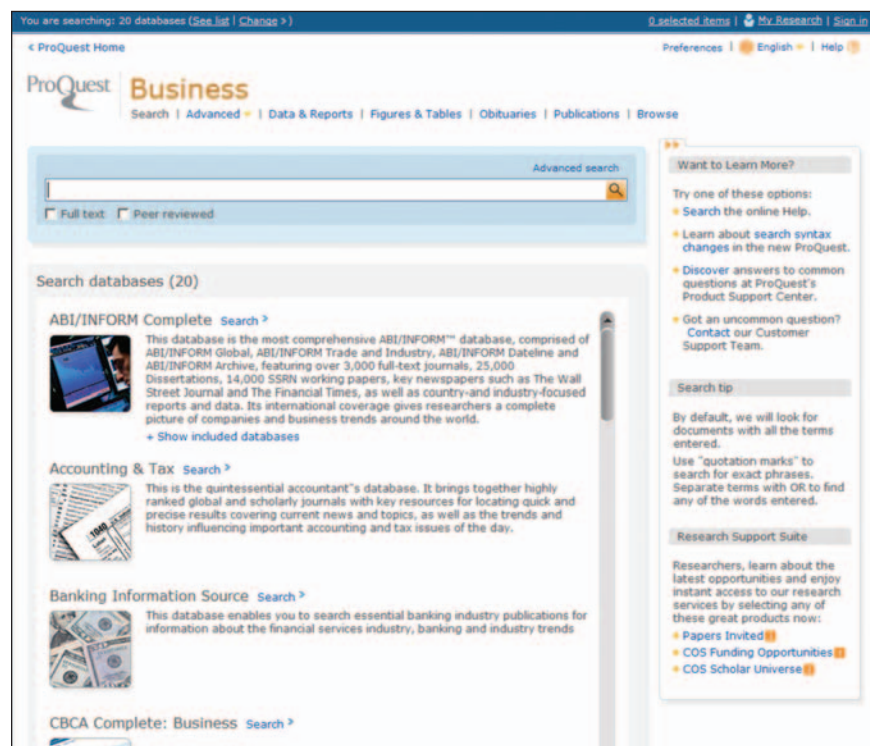

Use

We've made it easy to use this information to cite, customize, save, and manage findings as well as receive updates with alerts and RSS feeds.

Find

We're getting users to the most relevant and authoritative content quickly based on their specific search and usage patterns—to create a seamless experience.

Share

New features and functionality aid in information sharing and enhance collaboration for users at all levels—from students to professional researchers.

Users get the big picture with content in context in a wide array of content formats—including leading journals, periodicals, news content, rare and archival information, dissertations, research reports, ebooks, and multimedia.

Sign up to get platform updates at www.proquest.com/go/yourpath